

CRATER LAKE

Fed by abundant snowfall, Crater Lake is now filled with some of the purest, cleanest lake water imaginable. A nearly 2,000-foot deep caldera was all that remained after a devastating volcanic implosion of Mount Manama. Vivid blue water remains of a hollowed-out volcano.

OUR FAVORITE THINGS TO SEE AND DO

Hike the Cleetwood Cove Trail to swim at Crater Lake

This is an absolute MUST do!

Rim Drive

A 33 mile road around Crater Lake with 7 "must see" viewpoints. Make sure to have lunch at one of the picnic spots.

Keep an eye out for Old Man

Hint: It's a floating hemlock stump

Discovery Point

Walk along the lake rim

Backpack on Pacific Crest Trail

We did not do this, but definitely will the next time we visit!

Dry Creek Store

There are no restaurants, so all food must be prepared by cooking at your campsite. This store is amazing and within walking distance and they have everything you could ever need!

WHERE TO STAY

Umpqua's Last Resort

I can't say enough wonderful things about the staff, location and lodging at the resort! Staying in the Tiny Home was fabulous. It's only a 45 min drive to Crater Lake National Park and lots of waterfalls along the way to explore!

HOW MANY DAYS WILL YOU NEED

I recommend a minimum of 3 days in order to explore Crater Lake National Park.
